

O. Henry
Sequel Activity

Creative Writing II

What you've already completed

1. You read a short story by O. Henry.
2. You wrote a summary of that story.
3. You wrote brief descriptions of the story's main characters

Today's Activity

You are going to start building a sequel to the short story you read.

You will continue and finish building this sequel during our next class together.

You will have your written work and the original story available while you work.

No, this should not be a homework assignment.

Requirements

Your sequel needs to meet the following requirements:

- Must be a “what happens” next with the characters from O. Henry’s story.
- It is a Flash Fiction piece—aim for 300-500 words
- It will be typed and submitted to turnitin.com

Once submitted to turnitin.com you can view the story and then correct any grammar errors and then resubmit.